Echo of Vijayanagar Shootout

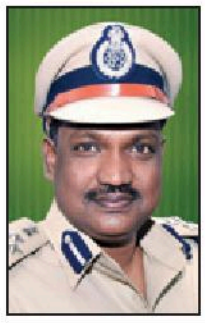
Rowdy-sheeter had Licenced Gun!

Mysuru, July 17 (RK& BCT)- While one Police Station in city includes a person in rowdy-sheet, the other Police Station issues him a gun licence!

And to rectify this lapse, the Police have launched a special drive to screen all licenced gun holders in city for any criminal history or background. The Police have decided to cancel the licences of those who have criminal cases. As part of the drive, the Police will issue a warning to gun licence holders about not misusing firearms in public.

The Police move follows the shootout incident reported from Vijayanagar Fourth Stage in city a couple of days back where Satish Gowda, the District President of Jaya Karnataka organisation, had fired from his licenced revolver at cab driver Raghu after an altercation ensued between them.

City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subramanyeswara Rao has directed Deputy Commissioner of Police (Law and Order) N. Vishnuvardhana to launch "Gun licence review special drive" and submit a report to him within two weeks.



"While investigating the shootout case, it came to light that Satish Gowda, despite being a rowdy-sheeter, was issued a gun licence. We will fix this lapse."

— Dr. A. Subramanyeswara Rao
City Police Commissioner

There are over 1,098 gun licences issued in city by the Police Commissioner and licence owners include individuals, businessmen and politicians. Licences are issued under provisions of the Arms Act 1959 that allow civilians to procure guns if there is a threat to their life. Arms and ammunitions must be purchased from registered dealers and all the licences are renewed every year.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Dr. Subramanyeswara Rao said that while investigating Satish Gowda's shooting incident, it came to light that Satish Gowda, despite being a rowdy-sheeter was issued a gun licence.

"Satish Gowda is a resident of Sharadadevinagar that comes under the jurisdiction of Kuvempunagar Police and a rowdy-sheet has been opened against him at Kuvempunagar Station. Despite this the Krishnaraja Police Station recommended Satish's name for the gun licence as he had applied for the licence there. The licence was subsequently approved. There has been a lapse here and this was due to the lack of coordination between Police Stations," the top cop said. He added that the shooting incident would not have occurred if the Police Stations were careful in recommending licences.

State Health Card scheme still eludes Mysuru

Mysuru, July 17 (RK&BCT)- The much-touted Arogya Karnataka Health Card scheme to provide treatment at affordable cost to poor has not been implemented in Mysuru due to technical glitches. The cards are not being issued and hundreds of patients who visit the government hospitals in Mysuru district from far-flung areas to obtain the card are being turned away.

The scheme was officially launched in March this year and with its launch, Karnataka became the first State to implement a scheme towards offering Universal Health Coverage (UHC). Patients can avail treatment by producing UHC cards.

Initially, the scheme was restricted to 10 hospitals in State including Mandya Institute of Medical Sciences. The scheme was supposed to be rolled out in a phased manner in the months to follow and be extended to hospitals across the State. But five months have passed, the scheme is yet to be launched in Mysuru. Only T. Narasipur Government Hospital is at present issuing the health card.

Speed stumps safety

The time-honoured fable of The Rabbit and The Tortoise, narrating the challenge posed by the fast-running rabbit to the slow-moving tortoise may have also witnessed a time-warp given its rare occasions on which children happen to be made aware of the message slow and steady wins the race. One cannot be faulted to infer that the modern child may miss focus on the steady factor of the event by miles being influenced by the conviction that speed is the essence of life in our times. The field of astronomy may not lure people at large in the manner the field of astrology does even in the present era dominated by science and technology. The knowledgeable in the former field may agree that the universe, comprising the nine (now eight, with Pluto losing its identity) planets and infinite number of twinkling stars, provides the unparalleled example for the steady factor in the august company of the speed factor.

The speed at which planet Earth moves around the sun and revolutions of the planet on its own axis are both amazingly steady, a feature that has remained steady since the time planet Earth emerged in the universe some 4.5 billion (4,500 crore) years ago. If these features changed even a wee bit, the consequences are too many and beyond one's comprehension. In brief, the 24-hours-a-day and the 365-days-a-year schedule no longer hold validity.

We owe it to the 16th century Renaissance-era mathematician and astronomer Nicolaus Copernicus (February 19, 1473 - May 21, 1543) for formulating the model of the universe that placed the Sun rather than the Earth at the centre of the universe. Having raised the issue of speed and steady factor as they together ensure safety of the universe, one is obliged to ponder over these features applied to our daily life. We are in an era of fast automobiles, fast travel, fast communication, fast trains, fast food, fast this and fast that. In the process of the mind getting stumped by speed, we may sideline the factor of safety, going by the growing number of road mishaps resulting in injuries and fatalities that can be avoided by going even at marginally less speed.

Speed and slowness have their connect in a unique way that assumes relevance in the current goings on in the country witnessing chopping of full-grown trees and planting of saplings. Can anybody increase the speed (on time scale) of the saplings take the place of the chopped trees that have helped the quality of air to be steady for ages?

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The duty-free shop at the Delhi airport (arrival area) has switched its prices from dollars to rupees, but (naturally) accepts payment only in dollars or other foreign currency. While this makes price comparison with duty-free shops elsewhere difficult, there are unexplained issues about the exchange rate. Recently, a customer found that the conversion rate used for his purchase was about Rs. 77 to the dollar, when the official rate is about Rs. 68. The first question that arises is whether such a large variation from the official exchange rate is allowed. More importantly, the higher rate for the dollar gives the customer a benefit on the rupee price. He pays only $10 for a product priced at Rs. 770. At the official exchange rate, he would have to pay more. So why would the duty-free shop give customers an unsought bargain? Unless the trick is in the rate used to calculate the rupee price. — In Business Standard.

'Star of Mysore' is shining

Sir,

During my latest visit to city, it was a pleasure to see Star of Mysore shining as ever.

I have no hesitation to affirm that the STAR has been doing an invaluable service to Mysuru for decades now. Without STAR, the modern Mysuru culture would certainly have been much less enriched.

On my recent visit I found my sister Susan Ramaswamy being an avid reader and admirer of the paper as usual.

Incidentally, as a civil servant I worked in Mysuru a couple of decades ago and KBG was known to me.

Wishing the STAR best of luck.

City Railway Station needs another foot over-bridge

Sir,

Very recently I travelled to Mysuru from Bengaluru in Rajyarani Express. The train pulled up at 4th Platform but it was a surprising and a bit worrying sight to see passengers rushing into the steps forming huge crowds to go upwards either to check out from 1st or 6th Platform, in the Railway Station. Even the lift provision provided to both 4 and 5 Platforms seemed to bring no change as there was a rush for lift also.

Hence, I feel that another foot over-bridge is required for the Railway Station, which should not only have steps on one side but should have both opposite sides on Platforms 2, 3, 4 & 5 since they do not share an exit. And it should have common extension in extra, outside the 1st and 6th Platforms, for quick entry and exit for people, and should have common features like lifts, escalators at required Platforms, and ramp-ways also.

I feel that a modern and efficient Railway Station's key aim is to provide fast approach to the train for people, and that is possible only by providing more number of foot over-bridges, subways, lifts, escalators, steps etc.

Will the Railway authorities think on it and arrive at a solution at the earliest for the benefit of commuters?

Renovated Children's Traffic Park inaugurated at Nazarbad

Police Commissioner launches 'Awareness through little hearts'

Mysuru, July 17 (RKB&KS)- City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subramanyeswara Rao inaugurated the renovated Children's Traffic Park on Mirza Road in Nazarbad here and also launched 'Awareness through little hearts' programme for school children yesterday.

Speaking about the Park's uniqueness, the city Top Cop said that the Children's Traffic Park is one-of-a-kind in the country which focuses on instilling traffic sense in school children and added that the aim of the Police is to educate school children about traffic rules in the early age so that they would follow the traffic rules when they become adults.

"We want educational institutions to bring their students to the Traffic Park so that they could learn about traffic rules and in-turn educate their parents, neighbours and relatives," he added.

DCP (Crime and Traffic) Dr. Vikram V. Amathe, who also spoke said that the school children would be taken around the Traffic Park to familiarise them on various traffic signs including No Parking, Speed Limits, Silent Zone, One-Way, Free Left Turn etc. and added that even traffic signals were installed in the park.

He further said that the school children will also be educated on pedestrian-operated signals, where a pedestrian presses a button on the pole near the crossing and waits for the signal to turn green to cross the road besides providing information about solar blinkers, CCTV systems, Vehicle Management Systems (VMS) etc.

The DCP added that the Traffic Police will soon begin inviting students in batches of about 30 students from different schools twice a week as part of the 'Awareness through little hearts' programme.

'Shoulder light' to Traffic Police personnel was distributed on the occasion.

The Traffic Children's Park was developed in 1981 by Ideal Jawa company owner F. K. Irani on the four-acre land, which featured not only roads and signage but also models of various buildings including a Hospital, Post Office, Railway Station, School, Market, Police Station and Temple among others.

DCP N. Vishnuvardhana, Members of Traffic Advisory Committee, Traffic Wardens, school children and others were present at the inaugural function.

Birds, hatchlings face threat at Ranganathittu

Srirangapatna, July 17 (MTY &BCT)- Heavy rainfall and huge discharge from the Krishna Raja Sagar since a couple of days has flooded the bird sanctuary at Ranganathittu and boating has been cancelled as a precautionary measure. However, entry of visitors to the bird sanctuary has not been banned and they are allowed to go up to Dr. Salim Ali Interpretation Centre.

The staff manning the sanctuary said that the Forest Department is worried that the existing migratory birds and their nests will be washed away due to rising water level. Though there are not many nestlings, except of the local variety and there were only 30 percent of the Painted Storks left in the sanctuary, the rising waters have washed away hundreds of nests as most of the trees are half inside water, said Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) Mysuru Wildlife Siddaramappa Chalkapure.

While White Ibis had moved to safe places, some spoonbills, river terns, stone plovers, swifts, swallows, red wattled lapwings, open bill storks, cormorants and darter were sighted in the sanctuary apart from the cattle egrets.

He said many migratory birds had shifted their habitat because of change of season. Some local birds that roost in the sanctuary had moved to higher reaches. Marsh crocodiles are taking shelter at the riverbank in the sanctuary and were now safe in the six islands.

"We are taking all precautionary measures and we might shift some birds to a safer place. More veterinarians are being roped into service at the sanctuary. However, there is no reason to panic as migratory birds mainly visit the sanctuary during December. The sanctuary has check dams which control the pressure of water flow," he added.

The Ranganathittu Bird Sanctuary is one of the most popular tourist spots in the State and is rated as among the best in the country. This season is also considered to be one of the best to view the birds.

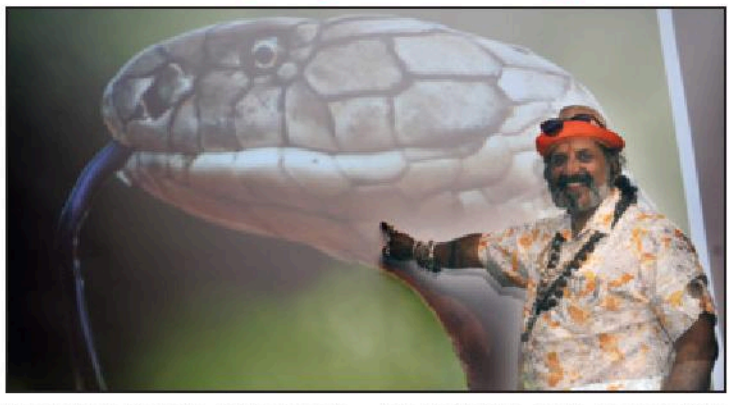
The sanctuary attracts nearly 2.8 lakh tourists every year and was formed when Kanteerava Narasimharaja Wadiyar constructed an embankment across the Cauvery in 1648.

The sanctuary attracts hundreds of species of birds such as little cormorant, night heron, large cormorant, white ibis, darter, lesser whistling teal, river tern, Indian cliff swallow, spoon-billed stork, painted stork and pelican.

World Snake Day celebrated

It is very important to protect and conserve snakes for the future of mankind, says Snake Shyam

Mysuru, July 17 (MK&KS)- "Snakes do not drink milk or ghee, they are non-vegetarians," said city's well-known snake rescuer Snake Shyam.



Delivering a lecture as part of World Snake Day at Mysuru Zoo auditorium here yesterday, Shyam said: "snakes played an important role as they form a key link in the food chain. They act as predators and as prey. They eat rats and rodents which destroy crops of farmers and help maintain a healthy ecosystem and environment. Hence, it is very important to protect and conserve them for the future of mankind."

Speaking further, he said that most people believe that snakes do not harm those with Garuda Machhe which is a myth and discouraged people not to pour milk and ghee on anthills during festivals as it would destroy the anthill and kill the snake which may have taken shelter inside and suggested people to give milk to the poor instead of wasting it.

Stating that the smallest is the Blind Snake and the largest is the Python in India, Shyam said that while all snakes lay eggs and incubate them, Viper, Green Vine Snake and Sand Boa are the only three snakes which give birth to young ones.

Shyam said that there were about 3,000 various species of snakes in the world and 275 species in India and added that Cobra, Viper, King Cobra, Krait and Sea Snake are venomous.

He said that when a person is bitten by a venomous snake, first and most important thing to do is not to panic. Wash the bitten part with soap, never drink water and immediately rush the person to a hospital where anti-venom injections are available.

Never tie the bitten portion tightly with twine nor cut the bitten part with a blade as there are chances of the person dying due to loss of blood, he added.

Zoo Executive Director Ajith Kulkarni, Deputy Director Manjunath, Assistant Director Dr. Ramesh, Zoo Authority of Karnataka (ZAK) Member-Secretary B.P. Ravi and others were present during the programme.

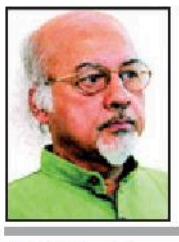
Much ado about 'Hindu Pakistan'



Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

The furore over Shashi Tharoor's remarks over the possibilities of India becoming a "Hindu Pakistan" must have surprised his enemies and his friends in equal measure. It also reminds us, yet again, that we live in a politically surcharged atmosphere where battles can suddenly break out over a gesture, a phrase, a nudge or a wink. Communal emotions have become the sustenance of public life. They are the stuff of headlines and headlines are today the sum total of existence.

Shashi Tharoor has an unusual problem to begin with. Those who hate him are more articulate than those who don't. His quotable English creates more adversaries since angrez is quintessentially anti-national. He also ploughs a lonely furrow although he wears the badge of the Congress Party proudly on his Kurta. He went out of his way to write a whole book explaining why he was a Hindu. But the Hindus who matter in our polity don't believe a word of it.

That must be the reason why his "Hindu Pakistan" jibe kicked up so much dust so suddenly. On the face of it, the gist of what he said would be seen as unimpeachable in non-BJP circles. If the BJP were voted back to power, he said, it would re-write the Constitution "and that will enshrine the principle of Hindu Rashtra that will remove equality for the minorities and that will create a Hindu Pakistan."

That kind of speculation has been aired by others before. The idea of re-writing the Constitution has been publicly promoted by the RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat himself. Addressing a lawyers' conclave last year, he called for changes in the Constitution "in line with our value system." He specifically demanded a legal system reflecting "Bharatiya ethos."

This is a fully accepted viewpoint from the RSS angle. If Bhagwat put it gently and in respectable phrases, the Hindu Janajagrati Samiti expanded on it in a different tone when it talked of making India a Hindu Rashtra by 2023. The choice of that year could not have been accidental. It actually said that Yogi Adityanath's rise to power in UP had indeed started the process of creating a Hindu Rashtra.

Paradoxically, there is no consensus on what exactly is the definition of Hindu Rashtra. The term has liberal interpretations as well as communal ones. The RSS's communications chief Aniruddha Deshpande saw Hindu Rashtra as a concept based on inclusiveness, which emphasises one's duties to the nation rather than to the Hindu religion. Asserting that religion is a Western concept, he said: "Someone who is born a Hindu but is working against the country's interests is not a Hindu for us. On the contrary, a non-Hindu dedicated to the country's progress is a Hindu to us."

This is as broad-minded a viewpoint as possible, considering that Hindu is a term derived from the Sindhu river and, therefore, geographical in nature. The spiritual side was covered by Sanatana Dharma, a non-religious term denoting, simply, a concept of Eternal Values.

Shashi Tharoor

Mohan Bhagwat

Yogi Adityanath

Unfortunately, Deshpande's generous definition of Hindu Rashtra is not supported by many of his ideological colleagues. An RSS-backed Think Tank in Mumbai recently organised a talk session with a group of authors, columnists and thinkers known for their anti-RSS stance. Many RSS stalwarts objected to this, calling it "appeasement of enemies." One said: "In today's time, those who see the Sangh as enemy should feel isolated, not honoured."

What did he mean by "in today's time?" Clearly, hardline Hindutva groups feel that this is their time with a government that promotes their objectives. If these groups get another five years of power, it would be dumb to expect them to waste it. In a country where public debate is not only possible but is the norm, it is legitimate to raise such issues for people to think about.

Shashi Tharoor's point, therefore, was valid, but perhaps he made a phraseological mistake, linking Hinduism with Pakistan, which helped attackers to open fire from multiple angles. Most of the shots were farcical — that the phrase showed denigration of Indian democracy, that India was being equated with Pakistan, that Islam was being promoted.

All that happened was another reminder that we are a democracy where an extremist ideology using religion as a tool is finding it hard to gain control. That is because the majority of Hindus in this Hindu-majority country vote not as Hindus, but as Indians. In their hands, our country and our Constitution and our Sanatana Dharma are safe and will remain safe.

Historical Lushington Bridge near Kollegal washed away

The stone bridge was an engineering marvel that withstood River Cauvery's force for more than 200 years

Kollegal, July 17 (Nagendra& BCT)- The oldest heritage stone bridge in the erstwhile princely State of Mysore that was constructed in 1818 at Shivanasamudra near Madhyaranga across River Cauvery was washed away yesterday in the gushing floodwaters of River Cauvery.

The 400-metre bridge is called the Wellesley Bridge by the locals. But historical references say that while initially the bridge was named after colonial administrator Lord Richard Colley Wellesley, it was renamed as Lushington Bridge in 1835. Also, this bridge looks similar to Wellesley Bridge at Srirangapatna and it was a place where many movie scenes were shot.

Nearly 40 feet of the structure has been washed away. Though the bridge, located close to Madhyaranga en route to Bharachukki falls, was abandoned and not being put to use, the bridge has historical importance.

The bridge was considered to be an engineering marvel as it was designed in those days to withstand the force of the river even when it is in spate. The bridge was built with hewn (cut to shape) stone pillars and connected by stone girders and erected on the rocky bed of the stream. The bridge looked arrow-shaped at the end-point. Though two modern bridges were constructed parallel to this bridge, this stone pillar bridge stood unique.

The exact date of construction of the stone pillar bridge is not known. But in 1818, it was repaired by Ramaswamy Mudaliar, an officer under the Mysore administration. A copy of a letter dated July 23, 1833, published in 'Narrative of a Journey to the Falls of the Cavery' by Lt. H. Jervis, attributes it to 'Ramaswami Mudeliar, Jaghirdar of Sivasamoodrum.' The bridge was named after S.R. Lushington, the then Governor of Madras.

History says that when the British marched to Srirangapatnam (now Srirangapatna) in 1791, Tipu Sultan, drove all the inhabitants and cattle into the island of Shivanasamudra, presenting a silent and desolate country to the British army of Lord Cornwallis. This move was to avoid taxes imposed by the British. Later, the island was overgrown with dense jungle and the old bridge which connected the mainland was badly damaged.

When the British finally took over the region, the administration of Princely State of Mysore came under Madras Presidency. The State was ruled by a Board of Commissioners which included a Senior Commissioner and a Junior Commissioner. Lushington assumed charge as Junior Commissioner in October, 1831 and later took over as Governor and the bridge was named after him.

Now with the bridge relegated to history, tourists visiting Bharachukki and Gaganachukki Falls and Madhyaranga temple are robbed off an opportunity to take a heritage walk over the 400-metre-long bridge and enjoy its beauty.

The Lord Giveth and the Lord Taketh Away

Rest In Peace Fr. Noronha

And the Lord takes away only at his pleasure. It is like holding an office at the pleasure of the President of India! Fr. Denis Victor Noronha passed away yesterday in city at the age of 86. A city he served well for many years that he became a household name even in non-Christian homes.

It is said that what one is born as, is God's gift to man. But what one becomes, is man's gift to God. Fr. Noronha is indeed man's gift to God. It is because he as a Christian Priest had become one who served well the mankind, not just Christians, specially in the field of education and in providing succour to his flock in the Church.

Despite the raw-deal he received from the High and Mighty of the Church establishment, he served the Church without rancour till he retired, sadly, under the shadow of oblivion. Yet, even after he retired, whenever call came from the people, he reached out to them. Service to the Church and to the Mankind was his credo.

He was a Catholic Christian Priest who indeed took God to people in the form of prayer, education, health and personal visits to those in distress. Ever so active, he was always noticed in a congregation or a gathering because of his personality — tall, immaculately attired in Priest's gown, long and fair complexioned visage, long and pointed nose with a goatee.

As I know, though he lived in poverty, he enriched the Church in Mysuru where he was ordained as a Priest on April 8, 1957. I learn no other Priest had built so many educational institutions and acquired real-estate properties for the Mysuru Church as Fr. Noronha. Of course, as the Financial Administrator (Procurator) he moved into the Bishop's House as early as 1960 and it was a turning point for the Mysore Diocese.

I first came to know him in the late 1970s and early 1980s when I had to seek admission to St. Joseph's Central (english medium) School for my children amidst stiff competition. He was the Correspondent and the final arbiter. It was at this time I was introduced to Bishop Rt. Rev. Mathias Fernandes, a wonderful, jovial person sans any hangups of the high office. He gave full support to Fr. Noronha in all his Church-related activities and Fr. Noronha did not disappoint the Bishop. The Mysore Diocese soon had many service-oriented buildings to show, not just the famed St. Philomena's Church, the iconic building. As if to pay tributes to his mentor Bishop Rt. Rev. Mathias Fernandes, Fr. Noronha built the St. Mathias School at Bannimantap in 1982.

Bishop Rt. Rev. Dr. Francis Michaelappa succeeded Bishop Mathias Fernandes and I knew him also personally. He was a master in Kannada literature and could deliver discourses on 'Sarvajnana pada' and often quoted Sarvajna in his discourses and public speeches.

Many, including me, thought Fr. Noronha would be considered for the Office of the Bishop when Dr. Michaelappa passed away. But then, a whispering campaign that he was too young, deprived him the opportunity. Later, when the next opportunity came, he was considered too old. This is what one calls destiny or consequence of 'Palace intrigue'. Later, he was to leave the Bishop's House and posted to serve in Mandya and a village-town in Kodagu. But heaven knows Fr. Noronha. Wherever he went, he served his Lord and Mankind sans any feeling of deprival or denial of what he richly and rightly deserved for his service to the Church. He retired, as he began his career, as a Parish Priest, at the age of 82, having survived some serious health problems.

He did not have any private, special, comfortable place to live after retirement. He was staying at 'Prashantha Nilaya,' a Retirement Home for Priests of Mysore Diocese, in Bannimantap. I visited him twice here and found the place desolate. There were only few Priests like him. Service from those employed to look after them was poor and I was told, even offending. But Fr. Noronha took it all with a sense of equanimity and forgiveness. He was not of a complaining kind. But, fortuitously someone came like a Good Samaritan and got the rude cook changed. He told me that he would adhere to the Christian values of poverty, service, repentance and forgiveness till the end. And, looking at his life and death, he did.

During my second visit I saw a TV set which was not there earlier. And thereby hangs a tale.

It appears, once Suttur Mutt Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji went to see Father and seeing no TV asked how he spent his time. Father smiled and said, "Read a newspaper and go to the nearby St. Joseph's Hospital to counsel patients." Suttur Seer too smiled and left. This was in the forenoon. At 4 O' clock in the afternoon, a person from Suttur Mutt arrived with a TV set.

Today, it is important to remember that Fr. Noronha used to be a constant presence in all the Souharda Samithi meetings (Peace meetings) in city whenever there was disharmony or disturbance among different communities. Henceforth, he will be conspicuous by his absence and we will miss him. The Bible says, "Blessed are the peace-makers, for they shall be called the children of God." And Fr. Noronha was our peace-maker. Also a child of God.

A couple of times he had come to my house and once had lunch too. He came with the statuette of Infant Jesus and gave it to me as a gift. After lunch, during our light-hearted banter, he said, "The family that eats together stays together."

"Are you claiming to be a member of our family," I asked with a naughty smile. He gave a long squeak and said, "Well, the whole humanity is one family. And the Bible says, 'family that prays together stays together'." Thank you Father. You were a true servant of God. RIP.

The Last Laugh with Fr. Denis Noronha:

When the Father reached Heaven yesterday, he asked God, "Why was Jesus not born in the 21st century?" The Lord God began to laugh and said, "Impossible! Impossible!! Where would the 21st century people find Three Wisemen and a Virgin?"

State Health Card scheme still eludes Mysuru

WHO ARE NOT ELIGIBLE

- State Government employees
- Central Government employees
- MLAs, MLCs and Chairmen of boards and corporations

- Private insurance holders
- Other beneficiaries of government health schemes
- ESI Card holders
- Private company insurance holders
- Group insurance holders

Most people who are visiting government hospitals in Mysuru, especially the K.R. Hospital, said that they had read about the cards in the newspapers, and decided to get one. But there is no information about where to get the card, the process involved and whom to contact.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Dr. H.S. Prasad, Regional Consultant, Mysore Division for Suvarna Karnataka Suraksha Trust that is implementing the project, said that it will take at least a month for the project to be implemented in Mysuru. "There is no deadline for people to get the card and once the scheme is launched, people can come any day to obtain the card," he said.

All those who have Public Distribution System (PDS) card like BPL (Below Poverty Line) and APL (Above Poverty Line) are naturally eligible for the card. All those who have the present Yeshasvini Card too can take this Health Card as Yeshasvini has been merged with Arogya Karnataka. Even all persons having Aadhaar Card are eligible to obtain the Arogya Karnataka Health Card.

Only State and Central government employees, MLAs, MLCs, Chairmen of Boards and Corporations, Police, private insurance holders, other beneficiaries of government health schemes, ESI Card holders, private company insurance holders and group insurance holders are not eligible for this health card, he said. "Registration of the card is a continuous process and people need not come to the hospitals just to obtain the cards. We will streamline the process within a month and start issuing the card," he added.

What is the cap?

While all patients falling in the BPL category can avail treatment free of cost, those in the APL category would have to foot 70% of the treatment charges for tertiary care while the State will pay the rest. Financial assistance of up to Rs.30,000 per annum will be provided for specified complex secondary healthcare treatment to a family of up to five persons.

In the event of the family requiring specific tertiary healthcare treatment, this annual limit will be increased to Rs.1.5 lakh per annum. For any family needing specified emergency tertiary healthcare treatment even after full utilisation of the annual limit, additional assistance of Rs.50,000 will be provided, as per the scheme. While primary healthcare can be availed only in Primary Health Institutes (PHI) run by the State, secondary care treatment would be made available at private hospitals only if the said treatment is not available at government hospitals.

Tertiary healthcare services can also be availed at designated hospitals. In case, PHIs within the same or neighbouring district do not have the medical capability for the required tertiary healthcare treatment, only then the patient shall be referred for treatment in any of the empanelled private hospitals.

Patients who require complex secondary and tertiary care ought to visit public hospitals, following which they would be referred to private hospitals if the treatment is not available at government set-ups.

GTD directs officials to ensure regular water supply in Chamundeshwari

Mysuru, July 17 (PM&DM)- Drinking water woes in some of the villages came to the forefront at Chamundeshwari Assembly segment progress review meeting, chaired by Chamundeshwari MLA and Higher Education Minister G.T. Devegowda (GTD) at Senate Bhavan in Manasagangothri here this morning.

Soon as the meeting began, GTD, referring to Undavadi Drinking Water Project that is targeted at providing drinking water to 103 villages as well as some parts of the city, said that hurdles in land acquisition had impeded the execution of the project.

Pointing out that it is a Rs.545 crore project and the Govt. has set aside Rs.50 crore in budget presented by CM H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK) on July 5, the Minister asked Tahsildars of Mandya, Mysuru and Srirangapatna to work with co-ordination for clearing all hurdles in acquiring land necessary for the project.

Referring to complaints about MCC refusing to register khatas in Vijayanagar 3rd Stage, GTD wondered why the MCC was reluctant to issue khatas even after MUDA handing over the locality to MCC. He instructed the MCC officials to take steps for issuance of khatas and thus provide relief to the residents.

MUDA Commissioner P.S. Kantharaju said that the existing law on private layouts is being amended to make private layout developers responsible for the maintenance of the layouts for six years after completion. Explaining the measures taken by MUDA for keeping a tab on private layout, he said that MUDA will ensure that private layouts have all the basic amenities.

On reports that breaking of queue had become a regular feature at Chamundi Hill Temple, especially on Ashada Fridays, the Minister directed the temple authorities to ensure discipline among the devotees.

Licenced Gun!

"To rectify the lapse, we are cracking down on those persons who have gun licences despite they being involved in criminal cases. We will summon all the 1,098 gun licence holders to the respective jurisdictional Police Stations and screen their background. If something is fishy, we will cancel the licences," he said.

DCP N. Vishnuvardhana told SOM that the drive has already begun and all Inspectors and SIs have been ordered to call the licence holders and speak to them. "Their background will be checked and even their social behaviour will be screened to see if there is any change in their attitude after the gun licence was issued," he said.

He added that based on the feedback by the Police Stations, a report will be sent to the Police Commissioner who has the powers to cancel the licences if there are any violations of conditions, he said. "We will not spare even if the licence holder brandishes the weapon in public," he added.

Man commits suicide in Yadavagiri

A combination of melody and bhava

Vidushi Vani Satish singing at Veene Seshanna Bhavana in Kuvempunagar recently accompanied by Vidwan Achutha Rao on violin, Vidwan Trichi Aravind on mridanga and Vidwan Sharath Kaushik on ghata.

The two music concerts held recently in Mysuru by two eminent women artistes proved their mettle time and again. One was a vocal concert at Veene Seshanna Bhavana under the aegis of Ganabharathi. The other one was an ensemble of percussion instruments with 'ghata' as the centre of attraction ! This was a part of 'Moonlight Music' at Suttur Mutt.

Vidushi Vani Satish gave a fine vocal concert on the 22nd of June along with Vidwans Achutha Rao on the violin, Trichi Aravind on the mridanga and Sharath Kaushik on the ghata respectively.

Vani hails from a musician's family of Bellary Brothers fame. Honed by her uncle, father, brother and also Vidwan P.S. Narayanaswamy, she has developed a good style of her own that is dipped in pure classicism. Her sweet voice enables her to enhance the bhava. Good imagination and control on laya adds to it.

The concert began with a Varna in raga Abhogi in two speeds. The smooth alapana that blossomed in an ascending order of Mayamalavagowla led to a fine composition of Swathi Thirunal 'Deva deva kalayamithe'. The neraval and a frill of kalpana swaras at 'Janmaarjitha mama khila' made it more interesting. A short and perfect prelude of Raga Anandabhairavi escorted Shyama Shastry's 'Marivere gathi evaramma' in a leisurely pace. Her creativity came alive in sketching Khamach with many innovative phrases.

Tyagaraja's 'Seethapathi naa manasuna' was rendered perfectly with a neraval at 'Premajuchi naapai pedda manasu chesi'. The krithi was adorned with swaras around Dhaivatha. The main raga of the day was shanmukhapriya. Both Vani and Achutha Rao did justice in delineating the raga. Bhava and melody reigned the manodharma part. Swathi Thirunal's 'Maamava karunaya' was ornamented with brilliant kalpana swaras.

The Tukdas included Kannada Devaranamas like 'Govinda ninna', 'Ksheerabdhi kannike,' a javali by Swathi Thirunal and a composition of Bellary Seshagiriachar 'Ninna mana degulava'. Achutha Rao's soft bowing and laya support by Trichi Aravind and Sharath Kaushik enhanced the musical experience.

Triumph of Ghata

Vidushi Sukanya Ramgopal from Bengaluru is a well-known ghata artiste. She has created history by assembling only lady percussion instrumentalists to form a troupe called 'Sthree Taala Tarang'. They have performed extensively in and out of the country. Many percussive instruments along with veena, violin with ghata as the main attraction sweeps the audience with ease. Sukanya's hard work and imaginative skills has made this possible. She has even composed music exclusively for the instruments.

They performed on the 28th of June for a packed audience at the Suttur Mutt branch of Mysuru. Vidushis Sukanya Ramgopal on the ghata, J.Yogavandana on the veena, Sowmya Ramachandran on the violin, Lakshmi Pillai on the mridanga and Bhagyalakshmi on the morching were the artistes. Needless to say, Sukanya was the driving force !

The programme took off with a Varna by Vidwan Lalgudi Jayaraman in the raga Valachi. Though veena and violin seemed to be leading, later on it was ghata all the way. However, the three percussion instruments gave good support one after the other for veena and violin in 'Gajavadana Beduve' (Hamsadhwani). It was only then the Ghata Tarang started. With six or seven ghatas around her, Sukanya led others with her own composition called 'Ananda' in raga Kunthalavarali.

Ghata ceased to be a 'Tala vadya'. It was or they were producing the notes of that raga ! Ghatas with different shruthi or pitch to match the notes of that particular raga were arranged to produce 'music'. With ghata in the centre, the mridanga and morching gave percussive support ! While veena and violin followed faithfully . That was the triumph of ghata, which usually does not enjoy an important place on the concert stage.

Here, one could enjoy both music and laya produced by ghatas with a rich variety of swara (jathis?) combinations she produced. She could easily play three or more notes simultaneously thus creating a blend of notes with lightning speed. Yet another composition 'Waves', penned by her, captured the audience with every artiste's imaginative skills. Sukanya, apart from ghata, joined in 'Konagolu' thereby catering a variety of combination of both notes as well as lively jathis.

After a Krithi of Papanasanam Shivan 'Parathpara Parameshwara'(Vachaspathi), they moved on to the main attraction of the day — a Raga-Tana-Pallavi in Shuddha saveri. After a brief alapana and taana on the veena and violin, Sukanya led the others for Pallavi. Her improvisations were enjoyable. The crescent in kalpana swaras had Tisra, Chatusra, Khanda, and groups of six and seven notes per beat. Kudos to Sthree Shakthi !

Booktalk

Living with Dreams

By N. Niranjan Nikam

Dr. Veena

Capturing the personality of the calibre of a multi-talented and multi-faceted individual like Suresh Heblikar in a small book is indeed a very difficult task. But Dr. Veena Bharathi has managed to do just that in the book titled "Live With Dreams - Suresh Heblikar" where she has traced the life and times of this dreamer with a sense of wonder.

Tracing back to the crush she and her classmates, all students of MBBS, had on Suresh Heblikar, when they watched the suave, romantic, dreamy eyed hero, in the movie 'Aalemane' in 1981 to the time she interviewed him for a Kannada TV channel last year, she takes the readers through various facets of the actor, director, movie-maker and above all, now an environmentalist.

Recalling how shy and introspective Heblikar was in his childhood, Dr. Veena Bharathi reveals his interest in nature, when he says, "In retrospect, I probably always used to feel that water was my soul, since I love the lakes, small water bodies and, of course, also the trees and farm lands."

Heblikar, who was born and brought up in Dharwad, completed his education there and while doing Post Graduation in Economics came across Prof. Mahale, a Goan who had come to teach in the Department of French and organised a film workshop. Dr. Veena Bharathi writes that it was due to the influence of this French Professor that he entered the world of films.

After traversing through the many movies and plays that Heblikar has acted or directed in, comes the chapter "Crusader for Mindscape and Landscape" wherein she describes how he has made nearly 25-documentary films over the last two decades which depicts the reason for environmental degradation and what measures can be taken by the society, civic authorities and the government in preserving ecological balance.

Eco Watch, an NGO started by Heblikar in 1998, is now being handled by his only son Akshay Heblikar, who have together played a key role in implementing Urban Forestry Projects, establishing bio-diversity parks in and around Bengaluru, setting up of tropical gene-bank of important species in Belgaum district, management of projects through rainwater harvesting and ground water re-charge, she notes on a bright note.

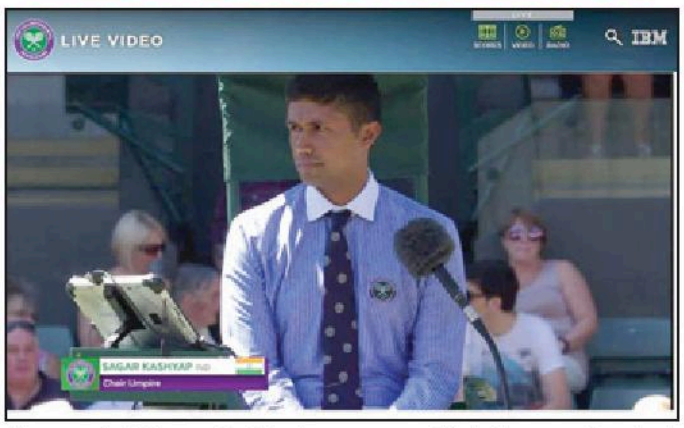
Mysuru lad Sagar Kashyap makes history at Wimbledon



Mysuru lad Sagar G. Kashyap seen officiating as the chair umpire for the Boys Singles final in the Wimbledon 2018 Grand Slam Tennis Tournament at London on Sunday.

London, July 17- Mysuru lad Sagar G. Kashyap never expected that on Saturday evening when he was checking his e-mails as a routine thing before he went to bed, that he would find a very special one from the Chief of Umpires Office of Wimbledon. It said that he would be the chair umpire on Court 1 of Wimbledon on the Sunday afternoon for the Junior Boys Final.

After dealing with the excitement of just the magnitude of what he had just found out, he was lucky enough to get some sleep and then walk on confidently on probably the most important match of his career, so far, and one that would remain in his memory as an extremely important and proud occasion for him and the whole Indian Officiating fraternity.

After all, it's not everyday that you are selected to do a Grand Slam final! After all, he was to be the 1st Indian or Asian to have achieved this fete to be on the chair on a final at Wimbledon on a packed Court 1, with a local British player in the final playing the number 1 seed from Chinese Taipei.

The fact that he did a fabulous job goes to prove that his selection for this occasion was an apt one. He proved to one and all that there are times, when dreams really come true.

An overturned garbage bin in Rajiv Nagar

Garbage bins are kept at vantage places so that people can put garbage in it properly, make use of it and keep the surroundings neat and tidy. However, a garbage bin is kept upside down near Gupta Stores in Rajiv Nagar since a week, resulting in residents dumping their garbage beside the upside down garbage bin which is polluting the environment and foul smell is emanating from it besides the garbage attracting flies and stray dogs. Authorities concerned are urged to get the garbage bin set right and instruct the staff to get the garbage cleared regularly.

Tribals living in hamlets at Periyapatna facing hardship

Periyapatna, July 17 (HDR& DM)- Even as Union and State Governments are spending a lot of money for tribal welfare, the condition of tribals living at Boranakatte Girijan hamlet in the forest bordering the taluk, is left much to be desired.

The hamlet has a population of more than 350 tribals, with almost all of them belonging to Jenukuruba tribal sect.

The Karnataka Land Army, a State-owned construction organisation, had built 12 houses in the hamlet about 45 years ago. But these houses are beginning to crack due to the vagaries of weather and more so due to the incessant rains that has been lashing this part of the taluk for the past 20 days.

As some of the houses collapsed, unable to withstand incessant rains and storm, the homeless tribals petitioned the Taluk Social Welfare Officer, Malangi PDO (Panchayat Development Officer) and Periyapatna Tahsildar seeking alternative housing, following which the Social Welfare and Revenue Department officials visited the spot and assured the tribals of rehabilitation. But so far, no engineer nor any official has turned up at the hamlet, according to some of the hamlet inhabitants.

While most of the houses in the hamlet are damaged, some others have managed to withstand the weather. The inhabitants of the damaged houses are finding it extremely difficult to store grains and other households, as most of the houses are directly exposed to the weather with tiled/ sheet roofs coming apart due to strong winds.

Adding to their woes, most of the house do not have power connections and most of the solar streetlights have become non-functional.

The tribals are also facing sanitation problems, as there are no toilet facilities. Although the jurisdictional Gram Panchayat started excavating earth for laying the foundation for toilets, it has been left incomplete for six months now. Even the Forest Officials have turned a blind eye to the elephant trench, which has now become almost fully covered up due to poor maintenance.

As the trenches are almost covered up with the passage of time, tuskers, wild boars and other wild animals stray into the maize field, destroying standing crop. The concrete road that connects the hamlet with other link roads, too has become deteriorated, with potholes found everywhere. With living every movement in fear and anxiety, the tribals have urged the authorities to provide rehabilitation to them so that they can live happily without fear.

'Only educated class can bring change in civic governance'

MGP meeting resolves to convince educated candidates to contest MCC election

Mysuru, July 17 (YDS&BCT)- The second meeting "Responsibility of common people in democracy" to promote active participation by the educated and professionals in the electoral process was held at the office of Mysore Grahakara Parishat (MGP) in Yadavagiri here last evening.

The meeting gains significance as the election to the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) is scheduled to be held in September this year. The meeting was attended by activists, professionals, industrialists and retired government officials.

The meeting resolved to elect at least two educated and professional candidates in the election. At the outset, Ashvini Ranjan of Pratham Mysore said that winning the MCC election was just a matter of securing 2,500 votes. "We need to convince the educated and professional class to stand for election. Only if youths and the educated participate in the electoral process can there be a social change," he said, calling upon the educated to do their part to the society.

He discussed how a new vote bank of educated and professionals can be created to make a difference if they start taking active role in democratic process. Such a vote bank can be far more effective than the present vote banks based on caste, religion, community, etc. he opined.

Dr. Bhamy V. Shenoy discussed the unscientific restructuring of 65 Wards and how the whole process of critical importance was completed without involving the public. Though the mandatory press notifications were issued to meet legal requirements, public involvement was minimal, he said.

"Reservations of wards based on caste and carving of wards with unequal number of voters (some having less than 10,000 while others having more than 30,000) was done with the hidden agenda of favouring some potential candidates or political parties," he said.

P.M. Bhat argued that there were over 7 Wards where winning margin was less than 3,000 votes and if only informed and educated voters participated, results could have been different.

Dr. Renu Agarwal suggested introduction of e-voting like in foreign countries where people can vote from their homes and offices.

Most of the participants stressed that unless citizens are educated on the sacred duty as citizens to vote, no initiative will succeed.

The counter argument was that people have lost faith in election and unless they see light at the end of the tunnel, their confidence in electoral process cannot be restored.

There was discussion on some successful examples of getting voters to participate in large numbers.

R. Vasudev Bhat, Secretary of Vijaya Vittala Educational Institutions, explained how his college, through the students, motivated their parents to vote rather than staying at home on the voting day.

Raghupathi Thamankar gave details of how he encouraged over 150 flat dwellers in his apartment complex to vote. Though in the beginning there were some apprehensions expressed about the success of such initiatives, in the end it was resolved that if momentum can be maintained, this movement will succeed.

It was decided to form a core group led by Ashvini Ranjan to develop an action plan to get at least two candidates from educated class to contest the elections and get them elected.

MGP members R. Chandraprakash, S. Sathyanarayana, M. Janakiraman, U.B. Acharya, Malavika Gubbivani of Aam Aadmi Party and others attended the meeting.

WORD OF THE DAY

Cerebrate

Pronunciation: SAIR-uh-brayt.
Meaning: To use the mind; think.
Origin: When you think of the human brain, you might think of the cerebrum, the large, fissured upper portion of the brain that is recognised as the neural control centre for thought and sensory perception. In 1853, Dr. William Carpenter thought of the cerebrum when he coined "unconscious cerebration," a term describing the mental process by which people seem to do the right thing or come up with the right answer without conscious effort. People thought enough of Carpenter's coinage to use it as the basis of cerebrate, though the verb refers to active thinking rather than subconscious processing. Cerebrate, cerebrum, and the related adjective cerebral all derive from the Latin word for "brain," which is cerebrum.

THE ODD WORD

Benthos

The flora and fauna on the bottom of a sea or lake.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

At one's beck and call

Meaning: To be entirely subservient; to be responsive to their slightest request.
Origin: 'Call' is used here with its usual meaning. 'Beck' is more interesting. The word, although it has been in use in English since the 14th century, isn't one that is found outside the phrase 'beck and call' these days. It is merely a shortened form of 'beckon', which we do still know well and understand to mean 'to signal silently, by a nod or motion of the hand or finger, indicating a request or command'. If the term 'beck and call' had originated prior to the 14th century we would presumably now say 'beckon and call'. It didn't though and the first recorded use of 'beck and call' in print is in Aemilia Lanyer's set of poems Salve Deus Rex Judaeorum, 1611:

The Muses doe attend vpon your Throne,
With all the Artists at your becke and call;
What brings the phrase to the attention of etymologists is the confusion that some people have between it and 'beckon call'. This supposed phrase is a simple mishearing of 'beck and call'. The mistake comes about because no one uses 'beck' any longer, whereas 'beckon' is commonplace. 'Beckon call' could be said not to be a phrase in English at all, but it is gaining some ground nevertheless. At present (January 2007) Google finds 28,000 hits for 'beckon call' and 474,000 for 'beck and call'. The misspelling began in the USA in the early 20th century; for example, this early citation from The Modesto News-Herald, May 1929: A crowd of several hundred people heard a stirring address by B. W. Gearhart, Fresno attorney and American Legion official. "Down through the history of American wars, from the Revolutionary to the recent World conflict," the speaker declared, "America always has had at its beckon call men who would give their all for their country that people might enjoy peace and freedom."
